ABOUT US

Carly's technology is changing the automotive world. With our products we offer car owners the world's best solutions to gain more control and transparency over their cars. Join our passionate team in Munich to make cars around the globe more connected!

What is Carly?

Carly is a cartech company that connects car fans with the information hidden inside their cars.

We provide simple solutions throughout the lifecycle of car ownership, focusing on car health and maintenance, car purchase and customization, while delivering peace of mind and empowering you to save time and money.

What is Carly's purpose?

To be the reliable solution for car fans globally, delivering control with powerful data and valuable insights.

What is Carly's vision?

We want to be the daily companion for all car fans worldwide for whom their car is more than just a mode of transportation. We combine deep car technology with consumer- and design-focused solutions to create the first international digital automotive brand, without even selling a single car.

Long-term we are going to give back control, democratize car ownership and bring transparency to an industry that has forgotten the consumer.

Your mission as a UX Designer at Carly is to enable a great customer experience at all touchpoints. By developing intelligent, easy to understand user flows you are going to focus on creating a fully customer-centric experience of our solutions.
